Business Arising:

As there was no Guest Speaker it was open to Members to bring plants & create discussion etc:

- Colin Mancey spoke about an undertaking of his coming up, The Kokoda Challenge 96klm around the rugged Gold Coast Hinterland & hopefully finishing in 39hrs. In the way of sponsorship, he was running a raffle.
- John Roberts talked about a Phalaenopsis plant & the do's & don'ts in growing to get the best results. (He actually stole a talk Lee was going to give)
- Peter Sweet bought in a plant he was given that came from up in the Gulf Country (Edward River Mission) some 15 years or so ago, it was a Bigibbum x Bigibbum in rather outstanding condition, it was mounted on a piece of half round wood (Before attaching the plant holes were drilled through the wood to allow better air movement) standing in a pot with some paperbark pieces underneath. He talked about this plant when he used to live Ashmore & the fact that he could not find the wright growing spot for it so the plant only survived but since moving to Carrara (Emerald Lakes) he has had the plant sitting on the veranda on white tiles (in the natural growing conditions these plants grow right along the beach front close to "White Sandy Beaches" so obviously the white tiles may reflect some heat & light) getting full sun in the summer & then in the winter it is taken inside the glass sliding doors for warmth. The plant has grown in size & now covers the front of the wooden mount. In summer the plant is fed nearly every second day with a weak solution of fertilizer & only the roots are sprayed not the actual plant to save any water burn on the leaves, the plant is on a stand that peter has erected with a cover that can be pulled down over the plant to give it filtered light in the summer months. Rather a great example of getting the right growing site for a plant.

Supper break.

Plant Commentary was then given by Lee for foliage & John for orchids.

Growing Ada Orchids

Tribe: Cymbidieae Subtribe: Oncidiinae

The genus is mostly epiphytes, but occasionally lithophytic, growing in wet cloud forests between 1500 and 2800m. Most species are presumed to be pollinated by hummingbirds.

The genus consisted of Ada aurantiaca and Ada lehmannii until the "glumaceous" (membranelike) brassias were added by Norris Williams in 1972. Then in 2011, Chase and Whitten moved the glumaceous brassias out of the genus Ada again based on DNA sequence data. Currently, the Kew World Checklist of Selected Plant Families considers Ada to be a synonym of Brassia.

Temperature:	Cool: 53 to 57F night, 75 to 80F day.
Light:	Moderate shade (1600 to 2000 footcandles).
Water-Humidity:	As with odontoglossum, adas should receive copious water while in active growth and less at other times. Under ideal conditions the plants should never totally dry out, but should not be allowed to remain sodden. Pure water of less than 180 PPM/tds (total dissolved solids) and 6 to 6.7 pH is very beneficial for optimum growth. Relative humidity between 50 and 70% is optimum. Maintain good air movement.
Fertilizer:	Adas benefit from a balanced fertilizer with an N-P-K ratio of 3-1-2 that also contains micronutrients. Application rates should be light (80-100 PPM is best) and consistent with active plant growth.
Potting:	Never over pot! Use pots and media that promote rapid drainage and avoid stale or soggy conditions at the roots. Repot annually or biannually if you must to avoid stale conditions. Best results may be achieved by planting in hanging wooden baskets or "rafts" which allows for rapid drain- age and maximum air movement around the plant. Choice of potting me- dium is wide and includes bark, perlite, charcoal, lava rock, course peat, and rockwool.
